Bob...

I don't mean to sound like an ass, but if it's cool with you, I'd like to get some resolution today. I think that in the past, I have answered his questions, and then dropped it, assuming that he was OK...Obviously, he is not. If he still feels that I am the one who is causing this problem, and decides to call my boss...You won't be able to help me at that point. That can not happen.
